Expressive cultures Contemporary Art in Britain

Tuesday 10.00-1.00
NYU Bedford GD 3
and Field trips for Meeting places see class details

Prerequisites
A keen interest in Contemporary art, enthusiasm and an ability to look, analyze and debate

Class Description
Contemporary art raises vigorous debate and criticism. But what is contemporary about contemporary art? This course introduces you to some of the key issues in dealing critically with contemporary art taking advantage of work on display in exhibitions in London, both major national collections and in dealer galleries. Lectures, video interviews with artists, critical texts and active student participation. Opportunity to visit London's galleries and museums which will form the basis for class discussions and presentations

Desired Outcomes
Familiarity with issues in Contemporary art and visual culture, an historical focus and critical framework for consideration of the themes and propositions presented in different works of art; an ability to analyse and explore the context in which art is made and a critical appraisal of contemporary accounts of art making and display

Assessment Components
10%: Short paper (1,000-1,500 words): Due session 3
10%: Contribution to class discussion and analysis arising from gallery visits and class debate. A number of students will be selected each week to lead certain aspects from the visit or class
40%. Academic Logbook: analysis & consideration of visits and set texts. Each entry 750-800 words Due session 9.
40%. Project presentation paper exploring the work of one artist or issue raised during the course. Due sessions 13 and 14

Failure to submit or fulfill any required course component results in failure of the class.

Assessment Expectations
Grade A: Demonstration of detailed familiarity with the visual and critical material under discussion; evidence of ability to engage critically with the main and secondary texts, pertinent, imaginative visual examples perceptively analysed and discussed; Fluent and articulate expression combined with ability to organise material and establish argument and main ideas. Positive participation in the class room and on visits

Grade B: Demonstration of familiarity with the visual and critical material under discussion evidence of ability to engage with critical secondary material and visual analysis. Positive participation in classroom and on gallery visits

Grade C: Limited reference to the primary and secondary visual and critical material and lacking the ability to organise material coherently; little engagement in classroom and on gallery visits

Grade D: Little or no reference to the visual and critical course material. May be descriptive with uncritical accounts and unfocused account of the subject of the paper; summaries of the main issues rather than argument; Inadequate or no bibliography. Minimal engagement in classroom and on gallery visits

Grade F: Little or no understanding of the subject and little evidence of visual analysis or reading. Poorly organised and confused argument; clearly failed to understand the material under discussion. Inadequate or no referencing of source material. No engagement in classroom and on gallery visits

Required Text(s)

Supplemental Texts(s) (not required to purchase as copies are in NYU-L Library)

Brilliant: New Art from London, catalogue Walker Art Center, Minn. 1995

The potential value of the internet for the study of contemporary art is enormous and exciting; there are very many useful websites available which provide much valuable information—visual, factual, and critical—but they need to be used with discretion as the material immediately available is often very limited. Remember anyone can put material on the Web and that most that is there is not subject to critical review. However, there are useful links via many gallery and museum sites and via Google to academic and professional articles and reviews. Addresses for museums and galleries pages and other sites of interest are listed where appropriate.

You should use the Web to complement your reading and not replace it. Like books and articles websites should be acknowledged with appropriate references. All sources for your own research for papers and presentations should be academic or related institutional literature and web sites.

The National Portrait Gallery (Charing X Road) has “Late Shift” every Thursday and Friday evenings 18.00-21.00 with live music, films, talks etc. There is a vast range of dealer galleries to visit.

Your Instructor
Jane Beckett has curated numerous exhibitions of modernist and contemporary art; taught at universities of East Anglia, London and Cambridge. She has published widely on Dutch modernism, dada; diaspora and contemporary art. Main areas of Research/Interest: ruins, muc walking, mapping, urban space and structure; gender and space; modern and contemporary art curatorial practices.

NYU LONDON ACADEMIC POLICIES

Academic Integrity

At NYU, a commitment to excellence, fairness, honesty, and respect within and outside the classroom is essential to maintaining the integrity of our community. By accepting membership in this community, students take responsibility for demonstrating these values in their own conduct and for recognizing and supporting these values in others.

At NYU London, students will submit electronic copies of their written work to Turnitin via their NYU Classes course site. Instructions will be provided to you separately.

Late Submission of Work

Written work due in class must be submitted during the class time to the professor. Late work should be submitted in person to a member of NYU London staff in the Academic Office (Room 308, 6 Bedford Square) during office hours (Mon – Fri, 10:30 – 17:30). Please also send an electronic copy to academics@nyu.ac.uk for submission to Turnitin.

Work submitted within 5 weekdays after the submission time without an agreed extension receives a penalty of 10 points on the 100 point scale.

Written work submitted more than 5 weekdays after the submission date without an agreed extension fails and is given a zero.

Please note end of semester essays must be submitted on time.

Attendance Policy

Study abroad at Global Academic Centres is an academically intensive and immersive experience. Learning in such an environment depends on the active participation of all students. As classes typically meet once a week, even a single absence can cause a student to miss a significant portion of a course.

To ensure the integrity of this academic experience, class attendance is mandatory and unexcused absences will be penalized with a two percent deduction from the student’s final course grade. Students are responsible for making up any work missed due to absence. Repeated absences in a course may result in failure.

How to report an absence

Absences from class must be reported to NYU London administrative staff using the online Absence Form: http://tinyurl.com/nyulabsence

Absences can ONLY be excused if they are reported using this form. Students should NOT approach their class instructor for an excused absence. However, students should contact their class instructor to catch up on missed work.

Medical absences

If you are unable to attend a class due to ill-health, you must provide details of your illness and class(es) missed to NYUL staff using the online Absence Form WITHIN SEVEN DAYS of your return to class.

Please do not use the form to report a medical emergency or to request urgent assistance. In a medical emergency call 999 and ask for an ambulance. NYU London staff are available to offer support, whatever time of day. If you would like to speak to a member of staff urgently to request support with a medical problem, please call 0800 316 0469, selecting option 2.

Non-medical absences

If you have to miss class for an unavoidable, non-medical reason you must provide details to NYUL staff using the online Absence Form at least SEVEN DAYS PRIOR to the date(s) in question. Examples of valid non-medical reasons are as follows: religious holiday; family wedding; scholarship competition; family emergency. If in doubt please speak to a member of Academics staff or email academics@nyu.ac.uk. Failure to provide requested documentation for these types of absences will result in the absence remaining unexcused.
Further information regarding absences

NYU London staff carefully monitor student attendance and absence records. In most cases full completion of the online Absence Form will be sufficient to excuse your absence. However, in certain circumstances, you will be asked to provide additional information/verification before it can be excused. If we notice that you have multiple absences you will be contacted to arrange a meeting with a member of staff.

Unexcused absences from exams are not permitted and will result in failure of the exam. Students may not take an exam before or after other students in the class, and may not leave the programme before all course work has been submitted.

Please refer to the NYU Wikis Page for the full absence policy: https://wikis.nyu.edu/x/awRgAw
