Academic Advising

The College of Arts and Science has an International Team composed of experienced academic advisors who work on issues related to international students in the College.

Advisors help students adjust to the College, work with issues related to international academic credentials and English writing courses, and help students by coordinating with other relevant offices such as the Office of Global Services (OGS), the Wasserman Center for Career Development, and the University Learning Center (ULC).

Advisors on the International Team host daily walk-in hours for international students and send out a weekly newsletter, the International Edition.

English Online Language Assessment

International students in CAS who have been asked to submit English language test scores as part of their application will also be required to complete the English online assessment in order to participate in registration for fall classes (which begins in June). This assessment is mandatory for any students required to take it and must be completed prior to registration. The suggested writing-course placement received after taking the assessment should be honored by students.

Writing Proficiency Exam

Transfer students are required to take and satisfy the Writing Proficiency Exam requirement during orientation. International transfer students though, dependent on their course enrollment into Expository Writing (EXPOS-UA) courses, may alter how they satisfy this graduation requirement. The results of this exam may determine if students are required to take additional Expository Writing (EXPOS-UA) courses. These courses are focused on developing students' writing ability and comprehension.
